A NEW BED—Anderson Spring Bed Bottom is one of the comforts of the age, as we know from experience The first morning after we used it we got up easier and retired at night with a higher appreciation of a comfortable bed than ever before—It is an economical feature in a family—a substitute for feathers—and its elastic properties are very great.—Kennebec Courier.

ANDERSON'S SPRING BED BOTTOM.—This is a new contrivance for public favor recently patented, and now meeting with flattering success It seems important that when about one third of our lives are devoted to sleep (or should be) particular care should be exercised in selecting a means of healthful and comfortable beds, and it is now the end, and we can speak advisedly of the justice of the claims that the patent meets the wants of the public most completely The slats are easily arranged and adjusted to any bedstead, and by their elastic coil and uniform elastic connecting arrangements, contribute to the health and comfort of the sleeper and cannot fail to give the weary rest Hallowell Gazette

Having tested the "Anderson Spring Bed Bottom, I can cheerfully recommend it to all who are in need of such an article, and I believe it to be superior to anything of the kind now in use

American & Foreign Patents.

R H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U S Patent Office, Washington,
(under the Act of 1837.)
76 Stat Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or novelty of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same Copies of the claims of any Patent forwarded by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere The testimonials below given prove that none a more successful at the Patent Office than the subscriber, and as success is the best proof of advantages and of skill he would add that he feels abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office in the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty-five years past, enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and other documents relative to patents

These besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and the records of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here set at nought.

TESTIMONIALS

"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse" CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure to them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EPHRAIM BENDR,
Late Commissioner of Patents

"Mr R H EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and skill as this on his part leads me to recommend inventors to apply to him to procure their patents as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART

During eight months, the subscriber has been in his large practice, issued twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS EITHER DECIDED OR which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag the sign of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall toll to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Freedom's shroud!

WAITING TO BE LOYAL There are indications that as soon as the pressure of the rebel armies is in any considerable measure withdrawn from North Carolina that great State will gladly return to allegiance to the United States of the Federal Union The revolution appears even now to have begun The Tribune has a letter dated Newbern, May 3d, which gives an interesting account of affairs The people of Beaufort county had offered General Burnside a regiment of loyal men, and Charles Henry Foster (formerly of this State) was invited to be raising another regiment in Hyde Tyrrell and Washington counties The necessary arms and equipments were ready for them and some of the troops had taken the field Men who have been active in the cause of secession are coming out in numbers for the Union The Sovereign Convention of North Carolina which voted the State out of the Union, re-assembled at Raleigh on the 21st of April The Raleigh State Journal—the leading organ of the rabid Disunionists in North Carolina—bitterly assails the Convention as continuing a majority of "old Union men and Hellenites" William W Holden is the Editor of the Raleigh Standard—for many years the central organ of the Democratic party in that State—and was a strong Union man up to the issue of the President's proclamation calling on North Carolina for troops Hence some are so sanguine as to expect that this Convention may possibly repeal the act of secession

EMANCIPATION IN MARYLAND The Baltimore American says that the evidences accumulate that the heart of Maryland is deeply stirred, that however efforts may be made to postpone or avoid discussion on the current topic emancipation it will make itself apparent It is no more possible it says, to ignore this matter than it is to ignore the present war The Eastern Star published on the eastern shore of Maryland says that the time has come when the question "must be met, discussed and decided by the people" The St Mary's Beacon advocates the immediate formation of a party to embrace the whole anti slavery sentiment of the State The Cambridge Democrat says it is certain that the President's emancipation acts are meeting with a response in Maryland" It adds that "to perfect an organization which will give aim and object to the cause and assure its more certain triumph, circulars have been distributed to several of our post offices throughout our county" Thus it will appear that the friends and foes of emancipation are actively entering into the discussion of the question, and taking measures to carry out their respective views at the polls About the same kind of agitation is also apparent in Missouri

THE REBELS IN NEW MEXICO The latest advices show that the rebel force which left Texas some 2500 strong through losses experienced in the several battles has dwindled to about 1600 A correspondent of the St Louis Republican says that in the battle with Colonel Slough at Apache Canon there were killed from five to six hundred, and in other engagements and by sickness and desertions two or three hundred more The Federal forces united now in pursuit of the rebels under Colonel Canby are upwards of two thousand strong, and every day, almost, the fleeing rebels are reduced in number They are wretchedly situated for transportation, and what they have is being taken from them by piecemeal The same authority says that Sibley's and Canby's columns are moving down the Rio Grande after the rebels and that volunteers are numerous among the people, who are determined to sweep the Texans out of the Territory and out of existence if possible They have done much injury by laying waste and devastating the valleys of the Rio Grande, and sacking Santa Fe and other towns, all the while violating their own asserted principle that each country should be allowed to make its own selection as to what government it should exist under

The recent order of the War Department relating to recruiting for regiments now in service is not generally understood Many inquiries have already been made, from different parts of the State, about the matter I enclose a copy of the order by which you will see that nothing will be done by the Governor until the War Department orders, upon requisition made by commanders of armies in the field

GENERAL ORDERS No 43

WAR DEPARTMENT, Adjt General's Office, Washington May 1st 1862

Upon requisitions made by Commanders of Armies in the field authority will be given by the War Department to the Governors of the respective States to recruit Regiments now in service

By order of the Secretary of War

OFFICIAL Adjutant General

I clip the following from the Tribune If you have not published it already please do so I think I see the "gaunt Yankee as he "went in" to show the rebels what northern troops can do when the rebels are three to one against them

"A STIRRING INCIDENT A correspondent of the Tribune describing the battle at Williamsburg, at the moment when 8 000 of our brave fellows stood like a wall of rock to repel the assault of 25 000 of the fresh troops of the enemy, narrates the following incident

"Brigadier Berry of the stout State of Maine riding through the mud and rain at such speed that he fatally struck and passed three other brigades coming in sight Hearty cheers shook with gratitude He rode to the nearest band and ordered it to meet the coming troops with 'Yankee Doodle' and to give them marching time till the hill with the Star Spangled Banner A wild hurra went up from the army and with a yell that was electric three regiments of Berry's brigade went to the front formed a line nearly half a mile long and commenced a volley firing that no troops on earth could stand before them at the double quick dashed with the bayonet at the rebel army and met them flying from the field into their earthworks pursued them into the largest of them, and drove them out to light with the pure steel and then invited them to take it The attempt was repeatedly made and repeatedly repulsed

Capt A B Farnham the former well known Captain of Co G 2d R g t has been offered the Captaincy of Co C in the regt vacant by resignation of Capt Clayton It is to be hoped that Capt F will accept this position as it is a well merited compliment to him as an officer and would undoubtedly be well received by the officers and privates of C C

The Council have to day adjourned to the 20th of June

Judge Walton's nomination has been confirmed

Gov Washburn leaves for Orono this afternoon

THE VANDERBILT VS THE MERRIMAC The significant movements of our fleet in Hampton Roads on Thursday, together with what has been published heretofore, remove entirely the necessity for concealing the fact that it was designed that the stalwart Vanderbilt should run down the Merrimac in case the latter could be disposed of in no other way It will be remembered that Commodore Vanderbilt made a present of the steamer to President Lincoln It was probably for this purpose The following calculation will show with what force the former would strike the Merrimac, if moving at her average speed The dead weight of the Vanderbilt is, in round numbers 4000 tons and her average speed is at least fifteen miles an hour That is equal to 15 000 tons moving at the rate of one mile an hour which in turn is equivalent to 30 tons moving at the rate of 500 miles an hour The velocity of a cannon ball may be rated at two hundred miles an hour The Armstrong gun is one of the heaviest in use, carries a 100 pound ball Three hundred tons is equal to six thousand pounds In other words the Vanderbilt would strike a vessel like the Merrimac with a force of six thousand 100 pound balls from an Armstrong gun at the same instant and in the same spot A further calculation shows that the momentum of the Vanderbilt would be equal to 1 00 balls from the Dahlgren gun on the Big Bethel each of which weighs about 900 pounds

A heavy fire occurred in Boston on Tuesday morning destroying the stores of D Webster & Co paper dealers, 65 Broad street, the six story Hickory warehouse of French Wells & Co 115 Milk street and the rear part of Underwood & Co's pickle establishment 67 Broad street One of the walls of the six story warehouse fell on the three story brick store of S W Waldron, demolishing the whole building and destroying the stock of goods in an instant The loss is reported at $400 000

The Canadians have already expended $1 608,900 upon their Parliament buildings at Ottawa, and it is estimated that $1,094,509 additional will be required in order to complete them The original estimate was $680,000 That "extensive folly," says the Montreal Herald, comes of having a "Governor General with Gothic tastes"

"Can you tell me," asked a blooming lass of a sailor, "what ship carries more passengers than the Great Eastern?" "Well, madam I really don't think I can" "Why, it is equal to a ship," replied the maiden, with a simple blush

☞ Inquiries have been made whether the Allotment Agent in this city accepts his appointment under the requirements of the order as originally passed by the City Council, by which there appears to have been a necessity for some delicate inquiries of a domestic nature.

CAPT SWETT'S BATTERY We are informed by one of our volunteers recently from the seat of war, that the statement of our correspondent "B" relative to Capt Swett's Battery is incorrect in some particulars Instead of going into infantry service and acting as guard to a company throwing a bridge over the Rappahannock near Fredericksburg, they were engaged in doing that work themselves—still retaining their organization as a battery

☞ We learn by a letter from Capt Brown of the Maine Cavalry, that the regiment has been ordered to join Banks Division in the advance, and moved last Friday from Harper's Ferry and Warrenton for that purpose

☞ Our night compositors return their most sincere thanks to the gentlemen who serenaded them last evening

A WHOLE VILLAGE BURNED—Destructive fire in Greenwood On Friday last a very destructive fire occurred at Greenwood Village Oxford County The fire caught about noon, in a shop (in the north part of the place) through a defect in the chimney The wind was blowing a gale at the time directly across the village, and the flames spread rapidly until every house, barn, shop and building except the meeting house, was destroyed Twelve houses, as many barns and out-buildings a grist mill and shops were reduced to ashes and twelve families turned out of doors many of them without saving even their personal effects Two horses and several hogs were also burned The most of the valuable property in the village was owned by Capt Patch now serving his country in the 5th Maine regiment We understand that there was not a dollar's insurance either on his property or that of his neighbors, many of whom are by this calamity sadly stripped of their little all—We gather these facts from the Lewiston Journal

MISSING VESSELS Brig R R Haskins sailed from Port au Prince Dec 1 for Boston The R R Haskins was a good vessel 160 tons, owned in Hampden The following were the crew—W R Harding master, George Whitmore mate both of Hampden, James Sproul Weston H Morse Henry R Moe, and John Clark seamen R H Curtis cook

PLAYING WITH FIRE At Portland, on Monday some boys set fire to a quantity of evergreens which had been thrown out of St Stephen's Church The pile was blazing up when it was discovered by Mr Kotzschmar, who, with some of the neighbors extinguished it In a few moments the flames would have caught the windows of the church

IMPROVEMENT The end of Court street, as reflected from its original line into Hammond street has been made and that portion now being longing to the County has been fenced in graded and graced with young elms In a few years this improvement will be still more manifest

THE BASIN MILLS AT ORONO The Boston Commercial Bulletin speaks of this as the largest saw mill in the world being 450 feet long by 80 in width and contains four gangs of saws eight single saws besides lath, clapboard and shingle machines &c The capacity of work is put down at thirty millions of lumber each year In 1860 it sawed twenty seven millions The writer says it has a stock of logs for the present season of twenty five millions

THE ANDERSON SPRING BED Mr C H Brett is now in our city, introducing these excellent springs for bed bottoms an advertisement for which will be found in another column—They have been already adopted to a considerable extent in some of our hotels and private residences and appear to give good satisfaction—The price is moderate.

The Cincinnati was seriously damaged by frequent buttings from the rebel rams, and compelled to run into shoal water on the Tennessee shore She grounded, and had four feet of water on her gun deck The government wrecking derrick has gone down to raise her It is supposed that she will be afloat to day

The Mound City did excellent service She was struck in a similar manner to the Cincinnati, but was not so badly damaged She was run into shoal water and is tilted to the bottom She was subsequently pumped out, and arrived here for repair

During the heat of the engagement, one of the rebel gunboats got hold of one of the Federal bow ketches, and was towing it away, when the Benton bore down upon her, and after a brisk skirmish, compelled the rebels to release the prize

There has been no arrivals from Pittsburg since Tuesday

A citizen of St Louis, who was recently at Pittsburg Landing, has returned, and brought with him a specimen of fine gold dust, taken by him from the bottom of a ravine in the vicinity of the battle ground of Shiloh The article, says the Democrat, has been carefully tested, and found to exhibit an extremely fine quality of gold

Lieut Horace P Pike, son of Dr Pike of the Augusta Age, had his left foot carried away by a cannon ball at the battle of Williamsburg He is now in Baltimore under good care

Setting the Thames on fire is a scheme proposed by one Mr Macintosh, in view of a possible foreign invasion He proposes to float a sheet of some combustible hydro-carbonaceous liquid over the water that sustains an adverse fleet to ignite this combustible liquid, and thus to envelope the enemy in flames. That wouldn't hurt Iron ships

One year ago Gov Morgan, of New York, called for twenty one regiments of volunteers, of 780 men each, to aid the National Government in its effort to suppress treason The response within a twelve month has been 106 regiments, of 1000 men each

Until recently the nations of the earth didn't know our power We didn't know it ourselves We don't know it yet One half of it has not not been put forth

Eleven hundred dollars, collected in New York were recently sent to John Davis, "the man who sat on the powder"

Prentice thinks that Beauregard's promise to water his horse in the Tennessee river must have been a very dry joke—to the horse

Twelve years ago Mr Seward introduced a bill into the Senate abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia His own vote alone was given for the bill

A deserter came on board the flag boat Benton yesterday He states that the rebel ram, in the engagement on Saturday, was not sunk as reported, but was terribly reported Our gunners on Fort Pillow fired most of their shots above the water line They struck where the ram was heavily plated Experienced naval men are of the opinion, that had the same number of shots been fired at the water line, or below, they would have sent every rebel craft to the bottom

The latest news from Pittsburg says it is not pretended that an attack would be made on the enemy's position for several days Our siege guns are not yet in position

Vague rumors of a threatened intervention in America continue in circulation, and the dullness and depression in cotton is attributed to them

The Paris correspondent of the Daily News, writing on the 1st inst, says it is positively stated to lay in official circles that the French and English Ministers at Washington have received identical instructions to attempt a moral intervention exclusive of any idea of a forcible intervention, in the hope of putting an end to the civil war

The Paris correspondent of the Independance Belge says I have reason to believe the project will very soon be made known officially to the public It is said certain conditions will be imposed upon the South, having for their object the gradual emancipation of the slaves I am assured that, in order to generalize the measure for the abolition of slavery, France and Spain have made a secret treaty, by which this unnatural institution would disappear from Cuba in a short time

A meeting, attended by about 6000 people was held at Ashton to consider the crisis in the cotton districts A motion calling on the government to recognize the Confederate States, and to put Mr Cobden's proposed alteration in marine law, was proposed An amendment was offered, calling on the governments of America, England and France to crush the rebellion, but on a division, the original motion was carried by a considerable majority

The Times publishes a letter from Mr Russell explaining the difficulties thrown in his way by Secretary Stanton when he sought to visit the British man of war Rinaldo He says that the difficulties amounted virtually to a prohibition and he thinks Mr Stanton would order the Rinaldo away if he dared Russell still further says

In conclusion, I may be permitted to add that I have received assurances that General McClellan has expressed himself strongly in reference to Mr Stanton's conduct to himself and to me, in the matter, and that he and all his staff have been kind enough to declare to my friends how deeply they regret my absence from their camp

In the House of Commons on the 1st, some explanations were made as to the delay in the American mails landed at Queenstown

Sir Robert Peel admitted that distress did exist to some extent, but said the accounts were greatly exaggerated The government deeply regretted the distress but could not attempt to alleviate it by indiscriminate relief

Mr Layard explained that the military arrangements at Shanghae were purely of a defensive character

An influential delegation had waited on the President of the Poor Law Board relative to the distress in the cotton manufacturing districts, and pointed out the inadequacy of the Poor Laws to meet it The President explained to what extent the Poor Law Guardians could depart from the provisions of the law, and thought the matter should be left in the hands of the Guardians, who were doing their duty very efficiently

The number present at the opening of the Great Exhibition was 33,000, all being season ticket holders

The Times says Our government has gradually withdrawn even its originally small stake in the military enterprise to Mexico, and we have now little beyond moral participation in the matter We shall get such redress for the past and guarantees for the future as are found to be obtainable and we want no thing more

Four deputations from Liverpool had interviews on the 2d with members of the government on questions relating to the shipping interests Their objects are not stated

France

It is stated that further reinforcements of French troops and war material are to be sent to Mexico

There is a question of sending Marshal Miel to Rome, charged with military and diplomatic powers It is said he will be charged to conciliate if possible, the protection France owes to the Holy See with the rights of the Italian nation

A letter from Mexico in the Monitor comments on the intolerable conduct of the Mexican Government, and the probability that the French troops will not delay marching against the city of Mexico

The recall of General Goyon from Rome is confirmed

The Paris correspondent of the Times says it was after much time and meditation that the Emperor decided on this step, and people say it produced such an effect on the Empress, that she could not or would not appear at a dinner given to the Queen of Holland on the 28th at the Tuileries, nor did she appear at a ball which followed the dinner

It is believed by Italians at Paris that Rome will soon be occupied by Piedmontese troops.

At Genoa a most startling robbery had been committed Six thieves, armed with pistols and daggers, entered one of the principal banks, garrotted the officials, and made off with eight hundred thousand francs.

Prussian commissioners have been appointed to proceed to England, and collect information relative to iron plated ships. If sufficient information is not obtained there, the commissioners will go to France and America.

After discussion, the resolution was laid over Mr Powell's resolution, asking the Secretary of State for information as to the arrest of Kentuckians, was taken up

Mr Phelps of Missouri suggested that the bills be made a special order for Tuesday, and that the residue of the week be given for debate

NORFOLK NAVY YARD Reports from Washington state that the Navy Yard at Norfolk, destroyed by the rebels, will be immediately rebuilt by the Government, as topographically speaking, it is one of the best sites for such an establishment in the world A good many people hope that the Government will not be in a hurry concerning this matter, as there are harbors along the coast of the South much better adapted for the purpose

The Hartford, (Conn) Courant says in relation to this subject—

If the rebels at Norfolk do not want a navy yard in their vicinity, we trust that Congress will accommodate them, and never appropriate a dollar to rebuild the ruined yard, or to expend on vessels under construction in that region The true Virginian thinks it more genteel to rot out a vegetable existence than to live one hour of crowded life We would accommodate the Norfolk people and let them vegetate for a while Perhaps in a few years of poverty, decay and misery would awaken them to their folly Their blood must stagnate in that hot pool, if forever they lose the market trade of the North in early vegetables and what little circulation the expenditures of the navy yard have heretofore imparted to Norfolk trade. The population has been about 20,000, but it must dwindle to a very small figure if the Navy Yard is permanently abandoned But the rebels are mad enough to bite off their own noses to show their impotent spite against the best and mildest government ever seen on the face of the globe.

"BIG THINGS" A lady named Wilcox, who resides near Wickford, gave birth yesterday to four bouncing boys The happy father of these newly arrived youngsters is a private in the 5th Battalion, Rhode Island Cavalry. If secesh don't knock under in the presence of such soldiers as Mr Wilcox, their warriors must be endowed with more than than ordinary courage. The mother and children are doing well.—Newport (R. I) News, 10th

"Good morning, Smith, you look sleepy." "Yes," replied Smith, "I was up all night." "Up where?" "Up stairs in bed"

Punctuality is the only key which unlocks the door to genteel confidence. A man who never pays his rent till late in the afternoon of the last day of quarter, will never have his name written high on the gentle calendar of any landlord.

THE REBEL TORPEDOES AT YORKTOWN The editor of the New York Times, in a letter to his paper dated at Yorktown last Sunday night, thus speaks of the torpedo atrocity of the rebels, of which but brief account has heretofore been given

The troops found scattered about, not at random, but carefully placed so as to be the most destructive, great numbers of torpedoes charged with explosives, and so arranged with wires that on being hand ed or stepped on, they would explode A large tree around which horsemen would naturally congregate for shelter, was completely surrounded with them They were placed in narrow portions of the road, at or near wells, and wherever individuals were most likely to go They were found in carpet bags, in flour barrels, in corn and coffee sacks, in officers' trunks, &c, &c One was placed just where the telegraph wire, which had been cut, enterred the ground, and exploded as the new telegraph operator went to take possession, killing him instantly Seven or eight of our men have lost their lives already from this cause. The entrances to the magazines have been so arranged as to make most certain that an explosion will follow any attempt to open them, they have, therefore, been placed under guard, and have not yet been disturbed

I saw to-day a statement made by a man named Grover, from Western New York, who says (under oath) that the construction and planting of these torpedoes has been the special work of Brigadier General Rains He asserts that Rains had given a great deal of time and labor to the preparation of these torpedoes—that he superintended the 'planting' of them himself, and that he had seen him going about in connection with a man named Gray with a wagon load of them to be placed in particular spots

Grover says that he knows where very many of them have been placed, and to morrow Gen Andrew Porter, the Provost Marshal, intended to send a squad of rebel prisoners, under Grover's guidance, to dig out all these infernal machines at their own proper risk and peril No one can complain of a retaliation such as this, which merely compels the rebels to take the chances of the assassinations they had planned for our troops

PAYMENT OF SOUTHERN DEBTS The Boston Traveller of May 3, says

We have been furnished with a letter received by a mercantile firm in this city from their correspondent in Tennessee, who has been traveling considerably in that State and Kentucky since our brilliant victories commenced His report, on the whole, is favorable to a payment of at least a portion of the debts due there to the Northern States He is also decidedly of the opinion that the people of the South, both in the border and cotton States, will, upon fully appreciating the hopelessness of their cause, return to their allegiance to the Government and the Union

MORE GUERRILLA WORK—PROPOSED RETRIBUTION Of the guerrilla attack upon the party of teamsters of General Banks division, we have learned further particulars Twenty six wagons were out on a foraging expedition without sufficient guard, and, having met but little success in the object of their movements and no signs of the foe they imprudently wandered beyond the Shenandoah in the mountains, and were cut off from their camp by the sudden rise of several intermediate streams While in this dilemma, they were attacked by a large guerrilla force, who killed a number of the teamsters and horses, and destroyed sixteen of the wagons, the others escaping

So soon as the intelligence of this mishap reached Gen Fremont, he ordered Gen Milroy to send a force into the district where the raid was committed, to hold the people thereof responsible, to take as many wagons and as much forage as would make up the loss, and to scour the region for the depredators If any of the latter should be taken, a summary disposition will be made of them undoubtedly A continued series of prompt and thorough acts of retribution for such depredations should be executed—and the guerrilla operations which so harrass our troops and abuse and intimidate the loyal people of the country will cease.—Wheeling Va, Intelligencer

CONFISCATION AND EMANCIPATION IN THE HOUSE The select committee of the House on confiscation and emancipation has instructed its chairman, Mr Elliot to report two bills The first, which is agreed to by Mr Noell of Missouri, as well as by Messrs. Eliot, Hutchins Bingham, and Sedgwick, but opposed by Messrs Mallory, of Kentucky, and Cobb of New Jersey, confiscates all the property, real and personal of leading classes of rebels, embracing somewhat more than are covered by Senator Sherman's bill, who shall continue in rebellion after the passage of the bill By another section on the property of all other rebels who continue such sixty days after its passage, shares the same fate The President is to seize the property, but the courts are to institute proceedings The claims of loyal creditors are made liens upon the property taken The other bill, which only the Republican members of the committee—a bare majority—approve, liberates immediately upon its passage the slaves of all rebels Two additional sections to the first bill were discussed, but were not acted upon, Mr Noell being opposed to them By one it is declared that under this bill slaves shall not be held to be property By the other, provision is made for the enrollment of all loyal persons within the rebel districts, who shall become free upon such enrollment, and may be, in such numbers as are required, enlisted in the military service of the United States Both will probably be moved in the House.—Telegraphed Monday to N Y Tribune

A letter in the New York Post gives the following statement of a rebel deserter

He stated that the utmost consternation existed all over the Southern country at the prospect of the advance of Banks and McDowell, and now the evacuation of Yorktown had caused a stampede from Richmond also He states that it is freely admitted all over the South, that the fight at Yorktown would decide the fate of the rebels, and that if defeated there they would make the best terms possible

The rebel officers prisoners here, are very bitter towards those people and papers in the North who, before the rebellion broke out, encouraged the South to believe that the North would be divided, and stated that they would be forever excluded from the South, if it was finally compelled to come back into the Union

A copy of a letter found to-day in the quarters of the telegraph office, indicates the sentiment which all deserters say pervades the South, and which prisoners admit is freely talked of

"TELEGRAPH OFFICE, April 30th

We are going to evacuate Yorktown in two weeks, or have a big fight before two days, and if we get whipped we will be back under the old United States again, but we will never be as well situated as we were before

LIST FROM THE BALM OF GILEAD TREE. A lady of the Providence says

The balm of Gilead tree yields a cotton which a surgeon in the army (one of our family) thinks the best of lint. We have used it many years particularly in cases where the patient has been long confined to one position, and where, in consequence, the skin has been rubbed off This cotton is most comforting. The trees promise abundance By recommending gathering it for army use, I think you will do much good.

What is the difference between stabbing a man and killing a hog? One is committing with intent to kill, and the other is killing with intent to stab.

CONTRABANDS IN GEN BURNSIDE'S DEPARTMENT General Halleck seems to be the only General who refuses to avail himself of the valuable services of the slaves of the rebels who flock to the Federal armies for protection and employment Mr Colyer, the Superintendent of the Poor in Newbern, reports that agreeably to orders from General Burnside, he has detailed for service to the different departments nine hundred able-bodied "contrabands" The women and children are able to provide for themselves—usually by washing or sewing making cakes pies &c for the troops These 900 men average five to a family making in all 4,500 colored people.—Boston Journal

The sulky city of the Crescent City will find General Butler a hard customer to deal with if they continue perverse He has had some little experience in taming rebels His system is somewhat like that of Rarey He puts on the straps first and subdues them When they find that further resistance is useless matters will go on more smoothly.—Boston Journal

LENIENCY TOWARDS REBELS A MISTAKE. It is rumored that Mr Stanton intimates that some Andy Johnson will soon teach manners to the secession Mayor of New Orleans, and will take command of the city, hurling Mayor Monroe from his place, and all other rebels holding municipal office The insolent reply of the Mayor to Commodore Farragut, has excited much feeling in official circles here and the government is fully alive to the fact that coaxing and wooing the rebels of New Orleans will not answer Senator Johnson writes her that the genuine rebels cannot be coaxed back to loyalty but must be terrified into it The great mass of the people of Tennessee, away from the cities he says are loyal, but there is a large class of men and women whose hatred towards the government is intense Leniency towards them is a mistake in his opinion The letter of Mayor Monroe has convinced the government here that a little more firmness will have a good effect upon the rebels —Washington Cor N Y Post
